We want to make sure we know everything about your characters, so let's interview them. How old are they? What is their favourite food? What are they scared of? What do they want more than anything else in the world? There's more examples of useful questions on this week's worksheet. Perhaps you could act out the interview with someone in your house – they could ask you the questions whilst you act like your character? Make your answers wonderful and exciting. What did you find out about your character? Let us know by sending in a picture of all the information, or you could send us a video or voice recording of the interview.
