

Task 11: Can you write a story that is set in Nottingham?

Write your own story set in Nottingham. You might want to consider what you know about Nottingham and how you can show that this is Nottingham and not any other city in England.

Let's plan the structure:

How will the story begin?
What will the problem be in the story?
How will you make your reader want to read more? (Make it exciting, worrying scary?)
What kind of ending will your story have?

Setting:

Where will it be set? You could choose one of these places or you can choose you own.

What would you see in this place?

Things I would see	Words and phrases I can use to describe them Challenge: Can you use a simile (say something is like something else or as___ as something else), a metaphor (saying something is something that it isn't really) or personification (giving something that isn't alive qualities of a living thing)?
Nottingham Castle	The gargantuan, towering castle upon the grassy hill in the distance was like a spooky, haunted house.

Character: Can you write as if you are a character in the story? This means you will say 'I'.

Who are you going to be?
