

The WHSmith Ultimate Writing Challenge

Poet Karl Nova challenges you to write

A poem about a special place

“In my award-winning book Rhythm and Poetry I wrote a poem called The City of my Birth and I’m setting you a challenge. I want you to write about a place that means something to you.”

You can choose anywhere in the world, from your own back garden to the top of a mountain you may have seen on TV. Think about why this place is special to you. Do you have lots of fun memories of this place, or is it somewhere you would love to visit one day? Try to include lots of details about what this place looks, smells and sounds like too. You can also illustrate your poem.
